

St. Augustine (m)

- Lived around the 4th and 5th century in present-day Algeria
- Patron Saint of brewers, printers and theologians
- Born to Monica (who eventually became St. Monica) and an unnamed pagan father, who later converted to Christ.
- Education was always stressed in the household, especially a classical education, but Christianity was suppressed by the abusive father
- Author of Confessions, his part autobiographical, part philosophical work outlining his personal spiritual journey as well as his reasons for making the choices he made and believing the things he now believes.
- Author of City of God, a book describing the relationship of the Christian religion (the only one at the time) with other religions. It is part history, part philosophy
- He is often pictured with a pen and/or book (because of his extensive work in writing and studying), a dove or bright light (for the presence of the holy Spirit) and a shell (referring to his story by the sea).
- Heavy philosophical influence of St. Thomas Aquinas
- After his, now famous, conversion that he became Bishop of Hippo (present-day Algeria).
- He is one of the Catholic Church's first ever declared Doctors (Teachers) of the Church.
- Feast Day: August 28th
